KILLING OUT EAST

GEORGE R. MISENHEIMER, KATY SWITCHMAN, THE VICTIM AT 9 A. M. TODAY.

THE NIGHT WATCHMAN SHOT HIM

John Hawkins Was Employed at the Missouri Pacific Shops, Where He Succeeded John J. Blue, Senior.

George R. Misenheimer, a night switchman for the M., K. & T. railway, single and 41 years old, was shot and instantly killed by John Hawkins, night watchman for the Missouri Pacific railway, in Hawkins' room at the boarding house of Mrs. T. F. Hall, 410 South Hancock avenue, at 9 o'clock this morning.

Hawkins, who claims self-defense, was arrested immediately afterwards by George Thompson, a police officer, and is now in a cell in the city jail, awaiting preliminary examination on a charge of murder.

Misenheimer was an Eagle and a member of the B. of R. T. His widowed mother and six sisters live at Salisbury, N. C. He came to Sedalia in the latter part of May and several days later went to work for the Katy. Hawkins claims he introduced Misenheimer at the Hall boarding house and arranged for his board and room until pay day.

Last night Misenheimer quit work, got his time check, and, according to Hawkins, began drinking. He was met by the latter and reproached for not paying Mrs. Hall his board bill. There was no disagreement or harsh words last night, but this morning the two met again, when Misenheimer showed anger at Hawkins' remark of last night.

Hawkins, who was commissioned by J. L. Babcock, former mayor, to carry a gun, when he was appointed watchman at the shops at the time J. J. Blue, sr., resigned, went to the Hall house and started to go up stairs to his room. He was followed by Misenheimer, who appeared very angry.

Hawkins entered his room and closed the door. Misenheimer, with no weapon of any nature in his hands, started to follow, and had just opened the door, when Hawkins, it is alleged, leveled a No. 38-caliber revolver at him.

Misenheimer, with closed fist, struck at Hawkins and the latter fired. Six cartridges were expended, one of which went wild, the other five bullets lodging in Misenheimer's body. One pierced the body directly over the heart, another went below the heart and a third entered the right shoulder. Two passed completely through the head.

Misenheimer fell to the floor dead. Tenants of the place summoned the police and when Officer Thompson arrived Hawkins peaceably submitted to arrest. He was taken to the office of E. H. Wood, chief of police, where in the presence of the marshal and Prosecuting Attorney H. D. Dow, he made a written statement, saying he had shot in self-defense.

Dr. F. R. Morley, coroner, was summoned and examined the body. After taking possession of the dead man's personal belongings, he ordered the body taken to the Sedalia Undertaking and Carpet Co.'s establishment to be prepared for burial. An inquest will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the court house.

Hawkins is a single man, 28 years old, and went to work for the Missouri Pacific as night watchman Jan. 21, last. His father, Perry D. Hawkins, two brothers and two sisters, live at Taberville, Mo.

Hawkins said he fired only five shots, but each of the six cartridges in the revolver was empty. Several bullet holes in the wall of the room adjoining Hawkins' could be discerned.

The coroner's jury was composed of the following: Peter Hoffman, J. W. Baldwin, W. H. Higleyman, W. W. Herold, David Kinsey and Bell Hutchinson.

No arrangements have been made for Misenheimer's funeral, neither has any time been set for Hawkins' preliminary examination.

Death of an Infant.

The infant son of J. H. Willis, an M., K. & T. brakeman, and wife, born at 2:20 o'clock yesterday morning, died this morning. Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon, burial being in Crown Hill cemetery.

Negotiations Are Called Off.

Kansas City, July 7.—Negotiations between the coal operators and coal miners of the southwest were declared off temporarily by the operators today because Alexander Howatt, representing the miners in Kansas, ordered the firemen and engineers at the mines in his district to quit work in sympathy with the miners.

William Baker Smith, aged 76, died from uraemic poisoning at his home, Boonville street and Brown avenue, this morning. Funeral arrangements have not been perfected.

TAFT EXONERATED

PRESIDENT'S SON ABSOLVED FROM BLAME FOR AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

HIS LICENSE HAD BEEN HELD UP

This Was Only Pending Investigation—It Will Now Be Renewed as Soon as the Young Man Makes Application.

Boston, Mass., July 7.—To no fault of Robert H. Taft, son of President Taft, was due the injury which the automobile he was driving caused to Michael Tithwall, an Italian laborer, June 27, according to the finding of the Massachusetts highway commission, made public last night.

Young Taft's operator's license, which has been held up pending an investigation of the accident, will now be renewed upon application.

The statement says impartial witnesses testified that Taft when approaching a number of men at work on the road blew the horn of his car and proceeded very slowly.

The man who was injured stepped directly in front of the automobile and was knocked down.

CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

Judge F. S. Heffernan Seeking the Democratic Nomination.

On another page of this issue of the Democrat-Sentinel is an address issued recently by Judge F. S. Heffernan, of Springfield, Mo., who is a candidate for the democratic nomination for congress from this (the Seventh) district. Judge Heffernan's platform, while built on sound democratic principles, has a strong temperance plank in it. He is for state-wide and national prohibition and openly and fearlessly declares himself to be heartily in favor of this great cause, sincerely believing it to be the greatest curse to the American people—a question that sooner or later must be answered in the interest of morality, justice and economy. While a democrat politically, Judge Heffernan espouses the cause of temperance and prohibition from a non-political point of view and one cannot but feel his sincerity in his beliefs when reading his very able address. He goes into his platform in detail and fearlessly makes known his contentions and what he will stand for if favored with nomination and election.

Personally, Judge Heffernan is one of Springfield's pioneer citizens. He is respected at home, where his influence and enterprise have done much for the Ozark metropolis in its march of progress.

RAIDED OPIUM FACTORY

Police of St. Louis Caught Chinaman While Running Full Blast.

St. Louis, Mo., July 7.—An alleged opium factory was raided here early today and its owner, Joe Sing, a Chinaman, is being held by the federal revenue officers. Federal officers said the factory was running full blast when they entered.

LAWLESS PEOPLE

ARE NOT TO BE PERMITTED TO INTERFERE WITH BUSINESS IN SEDALIA.

MEETING WAS HELD LAST NIGHT

And It Was Decided That Any Individual Who Desires to Work at the Missouri Pacific Shops Will Be Protected.

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the law abiding citizens of Sedalia that the mayor be requested to adopt vigorous measures to protect every citizen of Sedalia, or every man who may come to Sedalia;

"That he be requested to put on a sufficient police force to enforce his orders, and,

"That the citizens of Sedalia will support the mayor in any measures he may take to enforce law and order."

It was a determined lot of men that passed the above resolution last night at the city hall. They had met for the purpose of talking over labor conditions as they now exist in Sedalia.

The recent assaults that have been made upon men who came to Sedalia seeking employment was the occasion of the meeting. The idea that any one man, woman or child cannot go or come in Sedalia as he or she pleases, without having to account to some fellow that won't work himself and is doing his utmost, resorting to force, if need be, to prevent others from working, was perfectly abhorrent to all attending the meeting, and with one voice they said the thing must stop.

These citizens have no contention with the machinists now out on a strike. Many of them are as good citizens as Sedalia has. They are law abiding and worthy of all respect, and were it in the power of the business men they would be reinstated in their old places.

But these agitators and law breakers must keep their hands off. It must be understood that any man that wants to work in Sedalia, or who wants to become a resident of the city, can do so without fear of being disturbed.

"CRACK" GAME JULY 19

Doctors and Lawyers Will Contest Honors on That Date.

Sedalia's sporting men will be treated to a fantastic exhibition of bat swinging and baseball playing at Liberty park on Tuesday afternoon, July 19, when Sedalia's professional men—lawyers and doctors—cross bats in what promises to be a fine exhibition of "something" yet unheard of in baseballdom.

Some time ago the doctors of the city challenged the lawyers for the benefit of the Melita Day Nursery. Today the challenge was accepted and the foregoing date set.

The two lineups have not yet been arranged.

Charles E. Maxwell, First Witness, Tells of Living Cost and Conditions Along the Line—Hearing Resumed Today.

St. Louis, Mo., July 7.—The Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain telegraphers and station agents began their argument for a 10 per cent increase in wages at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in the United States circuit court room in St. Louis before the board of arbitration, consisting of Judge W. L. Chambers, of Washington, D. C.; Frank J. Ryan, state railroad commissioner of Kansas, and Andrew W. Sullivan, general manager of the Missouri Pacific.

President H. B. Perham, of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, acting as counsel for his organization, made the opening statement before the board, which is empowered finally to act under the Erdman act of 1898.

President Perham declared he intended to show that the 1,000 telegraphers and station men involved in the controversy on the Missouri Pacific line have not had an increase in wages for years, and that it is time for one, in view of the increased cost of living and other conditions. He said only $85,000 a year

PROCLAMATION

Realizing that law and order must prevail and the interests of the city be protected, I, J. W. Mellor, Mayor of the City of Sedalia, pledge myself to enforce the law and protect the business interests of the community.

Orders to this effect have been issued to Chief of Police Wood and they will be rigidly enforced. Should the present police force prove to be inadequate, then a sufficient number of special police will be added and the entire city patrolled constantly to prevent any further violence.

Beginning today, any acts of violence will be punished by arrests; the assaulting of innocent men must and will be stopped. The police are to see that no trespassing on private property is allowed; to prohibit the congregating of persons for unlawful purposes within the limits of the city, and to see that no person is unlawfully detained or forced to give an account of himself to any self-constituted authority.

I find myself confronted with a duty that I owe to the citizens of Sedalia, and no man is entitled to the confidence of his peers nor qualified to fulfill the duties of a public trust who has not the courage and manhood to perform this duty.

J. W. MELLOR,

Mayor.

Sedalia, Mo., July 7, 1910.

would be the total increase if the controversy was settled favorably to the workers by the arbitration board.

The first witness examined was Charles E. Maxwell, general chairman of division No. 31, O. R. T., who testified about living and working conditions along the road.

Mr. Maxwell resumed his testimony at this morning's hearing. The session adjourned at 1 o'clock.

C. J. McPherson, assistant to General Manager A. W. Sullivan, is representing the Missouri Pacific in the arbitration proceedings.

The board will meet for four or five days. The increase asked for, if given, will take effect from June 1, last. Under the law, the decision of the board will be final.

Judge Chambers, who was elected to preside over the board, was appointed arbitrator by Chairman Knapp, of the Interstate commerce commission, and Dr. Charles P. Neill, labor commissioner of the United States.

His appointment came after it was found neither the men involved nor the railroad employer could agree on a third arbitrator.

HACKED TO DEATH

MR. JOHN A. PITCOCK KILLS LAD OF 18 YEARS WHO HAD RUINED HIS HOME.

NOTIFIES SHERIFF; IS ARRESTED

Reaches His Residence at 10:30 P. M., Then Neighbors Hear Screams, and Investigation Shows Boy Fatally Hurt.

Conway, Ark., July 7.—John A. Pitcock, assistant clerk at the Arkansas state penitentiary, and a brother of Superintendent J. A. Pitcock, of the penitentiary, on returning to his home Tuesday night, stabbed Higgins Gibson, 18 years old, of Little Rock, Ark., to death.

Pitcock's business calls him to Little Rock every day, but he maintains his residence at Conway, and his wife spends her entire time here.

Young Gibson, who is said to have been acquainted with Mrs. Pitcock for several years, lived in Little Rock. He arrived in Conway last Saturday.

Shortly after 10 o'clock at night Pitcock arrived from Little Rock. He reached his house about 10:30 o'clock. Neighbors heard a woman's cries from within the house.

A few minutes later Pitcock called the sheriff's office and announced that he had killed a man. W. M. Grady, the sheriff, hurried to the Pitcock home and placed the man under arrest.

Gibson's body, hacked almost beyond recognition, was found on the floor. He died within a few minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. Pitcock are active in Conway society.

REWARD FOR LYNCHERS

Governor Hadley Wants the Men Who Lynched Two Negroes.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 7.—Governor Hadley offered a reward of $300 today for the arrest and conviction of every person who engaged in the lynching of the two negroes at Charleston last Sunday.

He said there was no excuse for the lynching, as he had not commuted the sentence of any person convicted of a capital crime since he has been governor.

Beulah Gray Died Today.

The Rev. Paul Stoerker, pastor of the German Evangelical church, will hold funeral services at the family residence at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be in Crown Hill cemetery.

REWARD OF $5,300

NO ONE TO CLAIM CREDIT FOR CAPTURE OF GLENCOE TRAIN ROBBERS.

THE RIGHTFUL ONES ARE BARRED

Arrest and Conviction of Lowe and Ebeling Due to Efforts of Inspectors, Detectives and an Agency.

St. Louis, Mo., July 7.—The rewards offered for the capture of the robbers who held up the Missouri Pacific train at Glencoe, January 21, amounting to about $5,300, are still going begging as far as the federal authorities in St. Louis are informed.

William W. Lowe is serving his sentence of forty-three years and George W. Ebeling, his partner in the crime, his fifteen-year sentence in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kas.

George Daniel, postoffice inspector temporarily in charge, said yesterday that so far as he knew, no one had applied for the reward. It would, he said, not be available till the lapse of six months after the conviction of the robbers. Following the usual course, the application would then be presented to the postal authorities at Washington, D. C., and would be sent to the local office for investigation.

Under the regulations, the reward offered by the government will not be available till November. The government offers a standing reward for the arrest and conviction of persons tampering with the mails. Additional rewards were offered by the state of Missouri and the Missouri Pacific Railroad company, which may be available under the customary regulations.

Under the rules, postoffice inspectors are not allowed to claim rewards for the arrest and conviction of criminals. It is claimed that test cases made in the courts indicate that the same is true of city detectives. The Furlong detective agency, which assisted in tracing the robbery, declines on professional grounds, to receive rewards for such service. So far as known, these three agencies were the only factors instrumental in effecting the capture of the robbers and getting their conviction, and no claim may ever be made for the rewards offered for the Glencoe robbers.

ANOTHER NEGRO KILLED

Had Been Discussing Merits of the Battle at Reno.

Omaha, Neb., July 7.—As the result of a quarrel over the merits of the Jeffries-Johnson fight at Reno, one negro, Rufe Coleman, was shot and instantly killed, and Lulu Newman was shot twice yesterday by Eugene Jackson, also colored.

The shooting occurred at the Coleman flat, where, it is stated, the quarrel had been continued since Tuesday evening. Jackson was locked up.

DEATH OF "JACK" JOHNSON

Predicted by Divine Who Has Foretold Other Events.

Paterson, N. J., July 7.—Rev. Augustus Abber Sing Solomar, who says he predicted the Galveston flood and the assassination of President McKinley, and says he saw in a dream a few days ago Johnson knock out Jeffries, now predicts the assassination of the champion by a white man. This act, he says, has also been revealed to him in a vision.

CRUSADE IS SPREADING

Calcutta, July 7.—The demand for the prohibition of the Biograph pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson fight is spreading to India. The papers here suggest that the American authorities destroy the films and compensate the owners.

THE CHAUTAUQUA.

The Chautauqua movement had its inception in the project fathered by Rev. J. H. Vincent and Lewis W.
Miller, both of whom were interested in the improvement and development of Sunday schools.

To this end they devised a meeting which should include graded courses of study and should extend over a period of about two weeks.
The plan also recognized the importance of recreative exercises and of lectures of a general or more secular character, not strictly related to the main subject of Sunday schools.
The whole system, as planned for, crystallized in the first session, held at beautiful Chautauqua Lake, in Southwestern New York, the early part of August, 1874.

The fundamental principle is that higher education may and should be extended to all alike, and that it is not confined to the years of youth, but continues throughout life.

Chautauqua accomplishes its purposes in two ways—the one to supplement and reinforce the other.
First, by direct influence exerted on those in attendance at the summer assembly; and, second, by indirect contact with its patrons, who form reading circles and receive correspondence instruction from the parent body.

Thus it is seen that while the Chautauqua scheme does not constitute an adequate substitute for a collegiate training, it makes, if perseveringly and conscientiously persued, for a liberal education and an encyclopedia of knowledge. At any rate it affords a most convenient opportunity for those who have not enjoyed the benefits of college study.

There are now scattered over the country numerous so-called Chautauquas, all of which have borrowed or imitated some of the features of the New York institution. They generally take the form of social assemblages, most of which are local in their influence. They are not conducted on so comprehensive or graduated a basis, and do not, as a rule, include various courses of study in stead of which they feature lectures and musical exhibitions to which the added recreative pleasures of outdoor life.

THE KISS IN HISTORY.

According to a writer in the Smart Set, the further away we journey from the days of Eve, the more assiduously the world seems to have cultivated the habit of kissing; in other words, kissing is a mark and a test of civilization. Before the coming of the white man it apparently was unknown among the Indians of America and the savages of Africa and Australia; but who shall trace its beginning among the peoples of Europe and Asia? As far as we may go among these ancient white nations we shall find no age when this highly unhygienic practice was not popular.

Indeed, Darwin attempts to trace it back to the habit our detailed ancestors had of grasping prey with their teeth!

This business of osculating became so popular among the Greeks that it is said many husbands, before starting out for the days work, compelled their wives to eat garlic—a most effective preventive, we cannot doubt.
The Romans attempted to be more cold-blooded and dignified. They were at least more systematic, for they divided all kisses into three kinds:
The osculum, the kiss of friendship;
the basium, the kiss of ceremony,
and the suavium, the kiss of love.
All of which simply implies that the Romans had three chances to our
one. The ancients, however, were not in favor of a public display of the business; spooning was decidedly bad form. Plutarch says that Cato expelled the Senator Manlius for kissing his wife in the daytime and in the presence of his daughter.

This same Plutarch is our authority for the statement that Rome founded the row antiquated custom of wives saluting their husbands with a kiss. The women, after sailing many seas and reaching this place, refused to follow their husbands further, and under the leadership of Roma—a "new woman"—burned the ship. Then, says the historian, Roma invented this pleasant method of appeasing the wrath of the husbands; and the remedy has been used with considerable efficacy until comparatively recent years.

F. S. HEFFERNAN'S ADDRESS TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF THE SEVENTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

His Platform. The Laws He Will Contend For If Nominated and Elected. He Adheres to the Cardinal Principles of Democracy. He is For State and National Prohibition, Viewing It as Non-Political, But the Greatest Moral Question Ever Presented to the American People.

F. S. HEFFERNAN.

Springfield, Mo., June 18, 1910.

To the democrats of the Seventh congressional district of Missouri, and friends from other political parties, who so earnestly solicited my announcement as candidate for representative in congress: I humbly yield to your requests and take this method in publicly expressing my many thanks for your genuine high regard for so honest a citizen as myself, and your appreciation of my efforts in behalf of state-wide prohibition. I fear you overestimate my ability in the work of temperance in which we are now engaged, and my worth as a citizen. I was born of democratic parents who lived and died believing in its doctrine. I have been a democrat all my life, never having affiliated with any other party.

To be a representative in congress one should be fully prepared to advocate the interests in all great questions. He should be equipped to represent his constituency from his entrance into congress. The old excuse of not doing effective service for two or four years after his entrance into congress is too primitive for this enlightened age. The member of congress who does nothing during such time either lacks industry or brains, and too often lacks both.

The office of representative in congress does not belong to any one man, nor is any one county in the district entitled to claim it for a favorite son. There are a thousand or more men in this district possessing ample ability to creditably fill the place. A representative in congress should have the interest of the people at heart, and the ability and determination to vigorously and fearlessly advocate the live questions that affect the welfare of our people. He should originate new measures useful and necessary to state and nation.

There are many great questions confronting the American people today. I take each one in the order of importance as I see them:

First. Constitutional prohibition in state and nation.

Second. The most equitable solution of the labor question.

Third. Equitable reduction of the tariff.

Fourth. Good roads in state and nation.

Fifth. Conservative limitation in armament of our navy.

The great paramount issue in this campaign is constitutional prohibition. It appeals to all moral people alike. It appeals to the conscience of every man. It says to the fathers, set good example for your sons. It says to the sons, let your conduct be such as to assure your parents that when they are gone, your conduct and habits will remain the same. It says to the daughters, ignore the man who uses liquor. This great evil is nearly universal in scope, and is transitory in action. It reaches to the rich and the poor alike. It affects the mind of the cultured and bewilders the mind of the weakling. It penetrates the doors of the almhouses where its victims are. It reaches through the iron-barred cells of the madhouse that it has enriched. It spreads to the empty cupboards and the fireless hearth of those who partook of its poison. It follows the corpse to the marbled cemetery as well as the unmarked graves in the potter's field. It then retraces back to the gilded saloons for new subjects. This is not a political question; it is the greatest moral question ever presented to the American people.

The all-directing Hand and the temperance people are on one side of this question, the liquor dealers are on the other side. Reason tells you which side will win. The voters are to choose which side they will take.

I want to be a representative in congress to make our nation as free from the use of alcohol as Missouri will be after the next election. I want to cause to be passed a law that will prohibit the federal government from collecting a revenue license in states and territories where prohibitory laws against the use of liquor have been adopted.

I want to cause to be enacted a law that will prevent all foreign bound ships to countries where we are sending missionaries to teach civilization and christianity, from carrying alcohol there to poison the bodies and derange the minds of the natives when converted. We want to teach the heathen that christianity is for their betterment and not for their destruction.

I want to separate the saloon and the brewery from politics. I want to change the condition of things, so that the man elected to assist in making the laws can hold his office in defiance of the man whose trade it is to break the law.

The federal home commission, in speaking of alcoholic liquor, through Prof. George M. Kober, of Georgetown University its chairman, after careful examination of state and federal statistics reported to President Roosevelt:

"We must leave to the students of social economy the question of a great nation spending an average of over one and one-half billions annually for stimulating beverages, a sum about as great as the appropriations of the congress for a session. Nearly double as much per capita is spent for drink as is spent for the maintenance of public schools. It nearly equals the value of exports of merchandise per capita. It is double the amount of the public debt. It is more than the farm value of the corn crop, which exceeds 2,500 million bushels; three times the value of the wheat grown; more than double the worth of the cotton crop. The indirect cost is beyond estimate, and so great is the waste and misery created that states are fighting the evil and endeavoring to banish the saloon as a distributing factor. It is easily the foremost question of the day and places the support of a big navy or an army in the shade."

This commission estimates the cost of drink for the year 1907 at $1,466,544,327.

THE SALOON.

It is not in harmony with the patriotism, the intelligence and manliness of the citizens of this state to say that we need the revenue derived from the liquor traffic to maintain the necessary expenses incidental to state government. The official statement of the taxable wealth of Missouri for 1909 and 1910, exclusive of merchants' and manufacturers' stocks and railroad, bridge and telegraph property, aggregate the enormous sum of $1,377,360,682, from which taxable wealth the state receives revenue tax of $2,066,041.02.

Total assessed value of real estate $1,053,345,916.00
Total value personal property 318,014,736.75
Total value railroad bridge, telegraph and telephone property 169,766,104.33

Total $1,547,127,087.08
This enormous wealth only equals the amount of money annually spent over the bar in the United States each year.

The rate of taxation for state purposes is revenue tax, 15 cents; interest tax, 2 cents. Total, 17 cents on the $100. Up to and including the year 1902 the state rate of taxation was 25 cents on the $100. Make the rate what it has been, 25 cents on the $100 and it will more than make the difference should the revenue derived from the saloons be eliminated, the cost of criminal prosecution will be so much less. The total number of saloons in this state is 4,000, from which the state derives an annual license of $2,337,746.42. The daily average receipts of these 4,000 saloons is rated at $50 each, or $200,000 per day for all the saloons in the state; at 300 saloon days in the year makes a grand total of $60,000,000 per year paid into the saloons. This is more than twenty-eight times as much money as all the revenue which the saloons and breweries pay to the state.

Sixty million dollars will buy 12,000 farms valued at $5,000 each; it will buy 24,000 homes valued at $2,500 each, to house and protect 240,000 men, women and children. It will clothe and equip an army of 50,000 men, ready for battle. At fair valuation it could purchase battleships and their companions more than we need in our navy. It would purchase a fleet of merchant marine vessels such as this nation never owned.

The saloon produces nothing to eat nothing to wear, nor does it educate. No food can be bought within its doors, no clothing purchased there, no home can be acquired there. There is not even a bed there to rest the brain it crazed. The license and the tax it pays for the privilege of man's destruction is first paid over the bar for drink. If total abstinence prevailed all over the country for one year there would not be a saloon, brewery or distillery in the land.

We have in Springfield twenty-eight saloons that pay annually $1,500 each in license, or a total of $50,400 per year. Add to the license the expense of bartenders, whisky, beer, cigars and other expenses, which I am informed by a man who knows, will bring the average total expenses of each saloon to $5,000 per year. To which we add $5,000 profits for each saloon, which I am also informed is reasonable, which equals in total expenses and earnings $10,000 per year for each saloon, or a grand total of $280,000 received in the twenty-eight saloons. As it is today in Springfield, there is annually taken from the wives and children and others dependent on drinkers the enormous sum of $280,000. Enough to properly clothe, educate and provide the comforts of life for 1,400 children each year, allowing them $200 each.

This enormous amount of money, if it could be diverted for one year from the saloons to the construction of macadamized roads, every public road in Greene county could be graded and macadamized, so that in the wettest season of the year farmers could haul to market from one to two tons of farm products any day of the year.

Ask the officers of the law who slew that man? who blasted their home? who plunged these children into worse than orphanage, until the hands are blue with cold, and the cheeks are blanched with fear, and the brow scarred with bruises, and the eyes are hollow with grief? Who made that life a wreck and filled eternity with wrecked souls? The saloon.

Intemperance in the use of liquor, like intemperance in other sins, boldly stalks everywhere, seeking its victims. Palatial saloons, furnished in arrogant luxury, with their great mirrored bars and all the allurements of dissipation, appeal seductively and alluringly to willing, shallow minds, beckoning them on with laughing eyes to indulge again and again in the excesses of the glass.

Where is all this done? In the saloon.

I take from the book published by the bureau of labor statistics, Jefferson City, 1909, the following:

The state is divided into 10,053 school districts. For the year ending July 1, 1908, the public schools cost the taxpayers $12,769,639.93 to educate 984,659 children of school age. This is about one-fourth of the sum of money wasted in saloons during the same length of time.

There are over 100 private colleges and many parochial schools in the state, and these, combined with the five state normal institutions, the Missouri State University and two private universities, have an enrollment each year of over 80,000 students, and the expense for maintaining these schools is more than $2,500,000 annually. This is less than one-twenty-fifth of the amount of money paid during the same time over the bar for drink.

Assessed value of all live stock of Missouri for 1909:

	Number.	Value.
Horses	856,139	$29,654,191
Mules	264,139	10,634,502
Neat cattle	2,081,541	24,915,306

Grand total $65,206,999

It will be seen that the annual amount of money paid over the bar for drinks nearly equals the assessed values of all the horses, mules and neat cattle in Missouri.

	Number	Value
Sheep	1,085,118	$1,839,529
Hogs	2,599,006	6,069,593

Total $7,959,422
Or less than one-seventh of the annual amount of money paid over the bar for drinks.

The total taxable wealth of Missouri for the year 1909, as I have said, is $1,547,592,821, or not quite twenty-nine times more than is annually paid over the bar in this state for drink.

The yield of corn for 1909 was 173,573,422 bushels, rating the average price at 60 cents per bushel would be but little less than twice as much as was paid over the bar last year for drink.

Surplus product 1908:

Poultry, live, 129,215,842
Lbs., valued	$12,021,584
Poultry, dressed, 83,950,622
Lbs., valued	10,074,074
Eggs, 146,850,857 dozen,
valued	22,027,628
Feathers, 2,094,218 lbs.,
valued	837,687

Total $44,960,973

This is the largest surplus product of any one kind in Missouri, yet its grand total value is but little more than three-fourths of the amount of money that is paid annually over the bar in this state for liquor.

I do not desire to be tedious in my presentation of unanswerable facts, but I hope it will be pardonable in requesting you to send to Jefferson City for a copy of bureau of labor statistics and read from pages 24 to 30, both inclusive, showing the surplus products of Missouri, 1908.

The magnitude of these figures shows the wonderful products of this great state. Yet, how appalling is the comparison in figures, showing one-fifth of the amount of surplus products is wasted every year in drink. Yet, some people prefer the saloon.

It is said that in this state there are 110,000 miles of public roads, of which there are only 5,000 miles graded and macadamized. If it were possible to divert the use of this enormous waste of money and use it in grading and macadamizing all our public roads in the state, in three years we could have every mile of public roads in the state graded and macadamized. Think of what a public benefit such roads.

There is paid over the bar for drinks $60,000,000 per year, from which there is paid back in license $2,337,746. Speaking alone in a financial way, it is a poor investment. The spirit of total abstinence has not only permeated the atmosphere of our own fair land, but it has invaded the vine-clad hills of Italy and Spain and penetrated the festive boards of fashionable France. It has crossed the channels and is now waging a fierce war in England, Ireland and Scotland.

As much as I love the people of the Emerald Isle, its evergreen mountains and fertile valleys, the home of my forefathers, and as much as I love the rippling music of its historic brooks, as I honor the achievements of her brave and chivalrous soldiers; as much as I love the memory of her immortal poets, her peerless orators, and matchless scholars; and as much as I love liberty as I do my own life, I would rather contribute one thousand dollars today for the absolute elimination of liquor from that beautiful isle and its people than give one hundred dollars for her freedom.

The magnitude of this war on the liquor traffic is not confined to city, county, state or nation. It is international in its sphere. It is to be settled by the people regardless of party. It is a question involving the conscience of every man, and it is deeper and dearer to us than all party principles. It partakes of that essence of goodness that teaches righteousness, and our faith in the preservation of our fellow man and our love for eternal brotherhood.

It is from the saloon the victims depart under cover of night to do greater wrongs. It is the adjoining wine rooms, where the innocent ones are induced to enter, under pretense of "no harm" to be ruined. It is in the saloon your son may have been induced to take his first drink, that so frequently makes him a wreck and leaves on the lips of his mother at the noon of life the last parting prayer that "My dear boy may be saved."

The sweetest music to a mother's ears is the early evening happy "Goodnight" of her boys ascending the stairs. Her love for them and the security she feels when she knows that they are with her, are a mother's happiest thoughts.

We read of Adam's fall and many regard it among the myths of history; but we can not truthfully deny that nine-tenths of the crimes committed are traceable to the saloon, an institution in defense of which from a moral, civil or economic view not one word can be said. A man's reverence for an all-abiding Being should commit to him a sense of right and goodness that would always antagonize his better feeling against the saloon. Wisdom is won by bitter experience and man can not afford to despise or disregard moral worth and take the chance of temptation. Free indulgence is a dangerous liberty. Liberty is but a relative term. We should participate only in liberty which contributes the greatest good to the greatest number.

Destroy today all the food products of the world and there would not be a living being upon the earth in fifty days. Destroy today all alcoholic liquor in the world and the world would be benefited. Millions of drunkards would be restored to their reason and to their loving families.

The great Roman senator, Cato the Elder, during the time of the Roman war on Carthage, used to conclude his speeches in the Roman senate in the Latin language by saying:

Delenda est Carthago, meaning Carthage must be destroyed. To which I say Delenda est liquorum—Liquor must be destroyed.

I say that the saloon should not be tolerated while our laws are founded on christianity.

For these many reasons I favor constitutional prohibition.

The Tariff.

I favor tariff reform. We have many gigantic corporations linked together in trusts for the purpose of governing prices all over the country; this is pernicious. I favor the dissolution of these trusts under the Sherman anti-trust law and the vigorous prosecution of their officers.

I am heartily in sympathy with my party on the question of tariff reform. I am unable to understand why any one favors high protective tariff on manufactured steel and its products; while Carnegie, the father of the steel trust, and of high protective tariff, a man who has accumulated nearly a billion dollars by the aid of protective tariff, and who now declares to the world that the existing protective tariff is no longer necessary. Every man who buys iron or steel in the construction of a house, implements of industry or even the shoes that go upon his horses' hoofs contributes to the wealth of the protected barons and at the expense of his own property.

This is an age of reading and reason. Every good citizen should protect his own interests by carefully reading the unjust tariff law. Laymen as well as statesmen will know what it is and can more intelligently vote his choice. Without the aid of the present protective tariff, trusts and corporations could not exist one year.

Organized Labor and Consolidated Capital.

Since Adam first gathered fig leaves for necessary use, labor has been and still is and always will be a necessity.

Since man received the knowledge that by the consolidation of individual capital into one large fund to finance great enterprises, capital was, and still is, necessary. Without capital to finance great industries, labor would return to primitive conditions. Without labor, the value of gold would not equal in value its corresponding weight in the soil that produces our food.

The laborer serves by giving physical and mental efforts to supply his wants, to sustain life and its many necessities. The capitalist invests his money in hope of a future profit. Capital is necessary for the advancement of all industry; the building of great railroads, ships, canals, the manufacturing of locomotives, cars, machinery, vehicles of all kinds and the many implements of industry. In all these industries capital would be useless without labor.

All the wonderful inventions of man's genius would be practically useless without capital. Machinery can be more cheaply manufactured in large factories where millions of dollars are invested, than in small shops. The large factories keep in touch with the advancement of the wants of the people. The brilliant inventive power of man has made labor easier than of old. For such discoveries and inventions there should be given to the laborer the benefit of less daily hours of labor.

Capital and labor are absolutely necessary to insure prosperity and the advancement of a country's welfare. No one would want to return to the stage coach and the wooden sailing ship as ways of transportation. No one would want to return to the wooden plow or bulltongue to cultivate the soil. The primitive days have passed. Every invention or discovery in the improvement of implements of use gladdens the hearts of the laborer and the capitalist alike. Every department of industry has had demand for labor and capital within its own circles from time immemorial. The bow and arrow has given place to the rapid fire machine gun, the unhealthy old sailing vessels that required six weeks' time to cross the Atlantic have given place to the palatial ocean liners, with all the modern luxuries and protection of life, with its wireless connections with the world, and now crosses the ocean in six days' Without capital and labor, this modern transportation would be an impossibility.

The purpose of the investment of capital is to yield a return and reproduce itself. This can only be done by the united efforts of labor and capital. In this behalf I recommend the formation of a state board of arbitration to settle all disputes between labor and capital. This board (not less than three members) to be nominated at the state primary elections and elected by the people. I also favor a federal board of arbitration, whose sole duties shall be to hear appeals from state boards of arbitration. Capital and labor should be allies, figuratively speaking, and they should continue hand in hand, marching down the progress of time.

National Highways.

I favor the independence of the Philippine islands so soon as a stable republican form of government can be established there, consistent to the welfare of the inhabitants of the islands and the interests of our country will permit.

Money can not restore the lives lost in wrestling from greedy Spain these misgoverned islands. Therefore I favor restoring to the natives of the islands their God-given rights of ownership of their own country.

I favor the retention of ample coaling stations therein, and the transfer of the islands to an established local government; taking in return their 3 per cent bonds, payable in equal installments for the next fifty years, in repayment to this country for one-half the amount of money it had to pay to Spain for the islands and the cost of improvement and maintenance since giving to the new government thus formed a protectorate until such time as it will pay its bonds. The bonds to be divided among the several states of the United States, in proportion to their respective population; one-half of which is to be used exclusively in the building of public macadamized wagon roads in each state, and the remaining half to be used as a sinking fund to maintain the roads when built. This will give the laboring man permanent employment; this will build up instead of tearing down the country. Should congress adopt my views in building public highways in this way, a greater benefit would result than the building of any railway ever constructed in this state. The macadamized roads would then become the veins of commerce. The world's food supply passes on wagons over the country roads before it reaches the market, railroads or steamboats.

Farmers should know that the products of the farm are more largely regulated by the condition of the wagon roads than the requirements of the markets.

With good macadam roads through the country, farmers can haul their products to market when their fields are too wet to cultivate or their crops too wet to harvest. Regular delivery of products to market makes a constant and uniform demand. The farmer should have something to sell the year around and he will then always have money in his pockets. Let sunshine brighten the highway and its warmth will reach the roses in the garden and perfume the home with its odor.

The rush of crop-moving should be avoided. It congests the markets, which never fails to reduce prices.

Good roads permitting crop-moving any season of the year will insure more benefit to the farmer than any stretch of imagination can extend. Good roads will also equalize freight traffic, giving adequate relief to forwarders of produce.

The past five years have shown us that it is impossible for the railroads to furnish adequate equipment to meet the excessive demand made on them at crop-moving times. Appeals to railroad commissions to compel railroads to furnish cars are usually made, and general disorder prevails; values are changed and frequent ruinous prices follow.

The products of the farm are used in towns and cities every day in the year, and should be accordingly marketed. This can not be done without suitable roads. It should not be overlooked that by the use of good roads the products should be removed from the point of production to the point of consumption no later than they are needed.

THE NAVY.

"We are a peace-loving and God-fearing people. We seek peace and friendship with all nations." Reaffirming the Monroe Doctrine, held sacred since 1823 by every president, excepting Roosevelt.

While I heartily favor maintaining the navy we have, and the completion of ships now in course of construction, I deplore the waste of public money in building so many battleships. It is no credit to the United States, claiming to be a nation of peace, not to war, to have the largest battleship afloat. Better that we were entitled to the enviable reputation of having the largest merchant ships carrying the products of this country to other friendly nations.

Our navy is amply sufficient to protect our coasts and to rigidly enforce the integrity of the Monroe Doctrine. If I were in congress two years ago, I would have introduced a bill recalling our wandering fleet, and substitute for it, if money had to be expended, sixteen large merchant ships laden with grain, flour and all other products of the farm, horses, cattle, sheep, swine, the choicest individuals, and of the best breeds. Also all classes of implements of industry manufactured in this country. Imagine a fleet of such ships laden with the products of soil and factory of this country, each ship's band playing music emphasizing in rhyme and melody peace and good will to all nations, while entering ports in circling the globe, unloading their burdens for exhibition. Would not such a fleet induce an unprecedented trade exportation, ensuring to our lasting benefit and peaceable welfare?

Such a convoy of ships, introducing into the old world modern machinery for the more easy tilling of the soil, and the modern ways of manufacturing their home products, and showing the foreign countries the American improved live stock, our modern machinery, all under a banner of friendship and tranquility can hardly be contrasted with a naval fleet our erratic president sent away to circumnavigate the globe, composed of sixteen mighty battleships, and their many auxiliaries, with as many bands playing martial music, and all laden to their capacities with improved machinery of war and implements of destruction.

This was done by the personal order and direction of the president, while congress remained mute. Was it done to terrorize other nations? or was it done to change the tradition that the United States is no longer a nation of peace, but of war and conquest? Nations too often become involved in war, to make it necessary to solicit trouble. Yet at home we claim to be a nation of peace. What a parody.

The history of nations shows that they are not much affected by a spirit of altruism. Their devotion to their own interest is generally measured by the opportunity offered them to take additional territory. But no foreign nation will attack our country without cause. Better that we do not give the cause.

The long distance between the powerful nations of the world and this country coupled with our great wealth, and almost unlimited resources, our large population and indestructible coast defenses is a sufficient guaranty of peace. We have been at peace with all foreign powers since 1812, excepting the before-breakfast engagement Dewey had with Montojo in Manila bay, and Schley's chase after Cervera at Santiago de Cuba in sinking his fleet during a test of speed in which it was demonstrated that our boys behind the guns never failed to hit, while Spaniards never failed to miss.

The magnitude of a navy will not immunize this country from war if causes arise. The way to keep out of war is to attend to our own domestic affairs and let foreign nations fight their own battles.

WOULDN'T SHOOT THE CZAR.

But the Soldier Had Good and Sufficient Reasons.

At recent maneuvers in Russia, the Czar, wishing to show his kind disposition towards the soldiers, decided to speak personally to some of them.

"Suppose, my dear man," he said addressing himself to a soldier in the foremost ranks, "I were to order you to shoot me, would you do so?"

"Yes, your Majesty," was the prompt reply.

"And pray why?" said the Czar, somewhat disconcerted.

"Because, your Majesty, a soldier is taught not to disobey the commands of his superiors," answered the soldier.

"What is your name?" inquired the Czar, somewhat angered.

"Ivan Smirnov," a native Russian, of the Greek Church, from the province of Tula," rapidly reported the soldier.

Walking away from him, the Czar decided to try another soldier, and again he asked the question: "Would you shoot me were I to order you to do so?"

Again he received an affirmative reply, and again he asked for the reason. The answer was identical with the one the first soldier gave, and again the Czar inquired for the name of the warrior.

"Ignatz Zadleski," said this one, "a Pole, of the Roman Catholic Church, born in the province of Warsaw."

"Well, I could understand your reasons for wishing to shoot me," said the Czar, thoroughly angered.

Wishing to test to the utmost this willingness to shoot him on the part of the soldiers, he addressed himself to one more soldier.

"Would you shoot me if I told you to do so?" he inquired of still another soldier in as loud tones as his squeaky voice would permit him.

"No, your Majesty," was the unexpected reply.

"What is your name?" asked the pleased monarch.

"Isaac Steinberg, of the Hebrew faith, a Jew from the province of Kovno," informed him the soldier.

"How is it that you, a Jew, one of the race whom I and my officials relentlessly persecute, is the one who of all whom I asked is unwilling to shoot me?" asked the astonished Nicholas.

"I am a drummer, your Majesty," was the prompt reply.

The Czar did not ask any more questions.

FAULTLESS STARCH

"DEVIL IS TO PAY"

THESE WORDS WERE WRITTEN ON A SHEET OF PAPER SENT MINISTER.

WAS ADVOCATE OF LOCAL OPTION

Rev. Fisher, of Meoga, Ill., Whose Home Was Dynamited, to Keep Up Fight, in Campaign to Stay, He Says.

Meoga, Ill., July 7.—The attempt to dynamite the home of Rev. Fisher the morning of the Fourth is believed to have been the result of the preacher's campaign for law enforcement inaugurated last spring. The authorities say they have a clew to the parties who did the dynamiting and arrests are expected soon.

Following his war on the liquor interest, Rev. Fisher received a sheet of paper with the words, "The devil is to pay yet," written under a skull and cross-bones. Rev. Fisher refuses to comment on the attempt to dynamite his home, but says he will continue his fight for law enforcement.

The dynamite was exploded in front of the house, tearing a great hole in the ground and shattering the windows. The explosion awakened the entire town, it being first believed the bank safe had been blown. None of the members of the minister's family were injured.

Rev. Fisher denies that he has been sued for libel by a member of his congregation in connection with a prayer, as has been reported. Many of the citizens believe the liquor element is to blame for the threatening letter and the attempt to dynamite the minister's home.

MISCELLANEOUS RECIPES.

Deviled Kidneys.

Allow four mutton or lamb kidneys to stand covered in cold water containing half a teaspoonful of soda half an hour. This treatment removes any strong odor or taste they might possess. Drain and dry them thoroughly, split each kidney lengthwise, remove the thin skin and make moderately deep incisions lengthwise all over both sides; into these cuts put as much of the prepared paste as possible and they are ready to be cooked. If they are to be cooked in the oven, frying pan or chafing dish, first put in a little butter; when the butter is quite hot add the kidneys. Do not cook them too much as that will make them tough. Veal kidneys may be treated in the same way, but beef kidneys are too tough, unless they have first been parboiled and allowed to become cold. If the kidneys are to be broiled the broiler should be rubbed with melted butter.

Lemon Jelly With Wine.
 Two ounces gelatine, one half pint water, one and one half pints boiling water, brandy or sherry, sugar to taste, whites and shells of two eggs, two lemons, one half pint sherry mixed with brandy. Soak the gelatine in half a pint of cold water for a quarter of an hour, then mix with it the boiling water, the brandy or sherry, the juice of all the lemons, the thinly pared peel of one lemon and sugar to taste. Boil for five minutes, remove from the fire to allow to cool. Stir in quickly the crushed shells and beaten whites of the eggs and boil the jelly up again, without stirring. Allow it to stand two minutes and strain through a clean scalded cloth, then stir in the mixture of brandy and sherry, pour into a mold and set.

Fine Pickles.
 Two hundred small cucumbers, three tablespoonfuls each of white and black mustard seed, one handful each juniper berries and small green peppers, a few small onions and two pounds sugar. Let cucumbers stand in salt water closely covered three days then pour off water and dry carefully. Boil one half gallon best vinegar and pour over pickles scalding hot. Repeat three or four times. If vinegar is too salty, add fresh. Put about two quarts vinegar, all the ingredients, one half pound ground mustard and one bottle English chow chow in a porcelain kettle. When it gets hot put in enough pickles to fill a jar, let them get thoroughly hot, then put them in a jar, pour over some vinegar and seal hot. Continue until pickles are all used.

Snow Balls.
 One cup of sugar, one cup of flour, two tablespoonfuls of sweet milk, one teaspoonful baking powder, three eggs; flavor with lemon. Put one tablespoonful in a buttered cup and steam 20 minutes. Roll in white sugar while hot.

COW HAS THREE CALVES

Holden, Mo., is Looking Up in the Cattle Line.

Holden, Mo., July 7.—The Holden live, stock and farm product show, which has for its aim the betterment of the stock industry of Johnson county, feels its efforts have been rewarded in a measure. Sam Hanna, a farmer south of Holden, has a cow which on Friday gave birth to three calves, one male and two females. All are doing well, with good prospects of taking many premiums at the coming stock shows. The mother is a common grade, while the sire is a black Poled.

The leading attraction of the Holden Chautauqua, which opens Aug. 31, will be the great commoner, William Jennings Bryan, who will speak on Friday, Sept. 2. His subject will be, perhaps, "The Price of a Soul."

Keep Baby Healthy in Summer

It is easier to keep some children in health in winter than in summer. And yet it is very important that the child should be strong and well during the hot weather. In the first place, a very little ill is liable to develop into a large one in summer because of the germs in milk, water and many kinds of food. You should be especially careful not to allow your children to become irregular in their stools during the heated term. The best relief you can give it, and the surest permanent cure, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the guaranteed laxative- tonic. It is exactly suited to the needs of children because it is gentle and mild in action, absolutely pure and free from narcotics, pleasant to take, and yet does its work promptly and efficiently. Thousands of mothers keep it constantly in the house against emergencies, and as a bottle costs only 50 cents or $1.00, and can be conveniently obtained of any druggist, no family should be without it. If you are one who has never tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and would like to do so before buying it in the regular way, you can obtain a FREE BOTTLE by sending your address to Drawing a Conclusion.

Harvey Lanigan never said he disliked his mother-in-law, but—

Harvey Lanigan's mother-in-law was taken sick at his house one night and helped herself to a large dose of rat poison, thinking it was pain killer.

"They had a frightful time with the old lady. She had consumed sufficient poison, the doctor said, to kill a dozen persons. But she pulled through."

"It was a close shave," said the doctor, the next morning. "She took enough to kill the whole family, but she stuck, fortunately, must have been in stock for some time, and nearly at its strength was gone."

"A month later a friend asked Harvey Lanigan to recommend a reliable druggist to him."

"Squills is a good man, I understand," said the friend. "Know any thing about him?"

"Well," said Harvey Lanigan, slowly, "I couldn't conscientiously recommend Squills & Co. to you, old man. They swindled me on some rat poison once."

Joke on the Joker.

"Even a policeman can't arrest the flight of time," said the funny man.

"Oh, I don't know," rejoined the matter-of-fact person. "Only this morning I saw a policeman enter a side door and stop a few minutes."

Saving the Next Generation.
Defective eyesight, writes William Allen Johnson in the Circle Magazine calling attention to the necessity of guarding the health of the little people, is even more common than defective hearing and usually more disastrous in results.

A Chicago physician states that the number of "short-sighted" children in this country today runs away up into the millions. And this great army of little weaklings may be made healthy, robust children by the timely and proper fitting of glasses!

Besides defective eyes and ears there are many other nervous irritants which either escape the parents' eyes altogether—which is almost always the case—or else they are voted too trivial to need correction. The skilled physician can find them; he knows, too, that while there are quicker ways deliberately to wreck a child's health there is no surer and more deadly course than the neglect of these "trivial" abnormalities.

A look at tooth son's unimportant enough, but in a young child it may completely disarrange its bodily, mental and moral development. Proper mastication is prevented and impaired digestion with all its resultant ills and its promise of permanent weakness naturally follows.

The case is cited of a little girl who had grown to be a hopeless "liar." She was anemic, very delicate, and frequently ill. A careful examination revealed constant fermentation in her stomach and this was caused, it was found, by a single crooked tooth which prevented the grinding motion so necessary to proper mastication.

The fermentation of food in the stomach caused unnatural nervous reflexes which in turn overstimulated the brain and resulted in a disordered imagination. The child "day dreamed" and exaggerated. The straightening of the tooth made her normal in every way.

In the medical inspection of the New York City schools, it was found that thirty per cent were backward. Putting the matter in the light of economy, the city was wasting three million dollars a year in teaching children who were physically unfit to receive an education. Examination revealed the fact that of the small army of backward children over ninety-five per cent were "dull" because of physical defects. And of this considerable, almost total, number more than ninety-five per cent were changed from dullards into normally bright scholars by simple operation or physical treatment.

The wife of a henpecked husband is usually set in her ways.

GIRL BEATS GAME

AMERICAN BEAUTY WINS FARM WHILE GAMBLING AT MONTE CARLO.

THE DAUGHTER OF COTTON BROKER

Chicago, July 7.—Miss Alice Lulu Stokes, pretty daughter of Carington Stokes, a well known Louisiana cotton grower and broker, claims the distinction of being the only American girl who ever beat the bank at Monte Carlo out of a section of American land.

Miss Stokes is visiting her aunt, Mrs. V. G. Johnson, 2291 Robeky street, having returned last week from abroad. The Stokes family traveled in France and Italy for six months past and wound up with a two-day sortie against the croupiers at Monte Carlo.

"I had never gambled a cent in my life before," said Miss Stokes yesterday, "but it was in the air. My father gave me $100 and told me to break the bank. He was playing with some gentlemen at one of the tables, while my cousin, Miss Falvey, of St. Louis, and I played roulette. He kept winning when we did not know we were winning at all. I had too much money on the bank at once time that a perfect stranger courteously informed me of my error. 'If Mademoiselle will permit me to advise, she should withdraw,' the stranger said politely.

"When I told my father about what had happened he said something about 'fools for luck,' but I considered he was prejudiced since he had lost $500 while I was making my pile unconsciously.

"It turned out that I won so much because the only thing I did was to shift from red to black every three or four bets, just often enough to save being penalized by the bank for doubling. I did not do it for that reason, but simply out of sheer ignorance. The result was that whenever I bet people were begging me to make bets for them. As soon as I found out I was so far winner I quit the game and all my winnings will be invested in a section of land near my former home in Western Nebraska."

Miss Stokes is 19 years old and a graduate of the University of Nebraska. She is noted for her possession of a remarkable soprano voice. It has been rumored since her arrival here that Miss Stokes' engagement to a Chicago man would be an accepted soon, but this the young woman denied.

AN AUTO RACER KILLED

Driver Crushed Beneath His Car in a Trial Spin at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, July 7.—Thomas Kincaid, a well known automobile driver, was killed at the Indianapolis motor speedway last afternoon. He was on the track in trial practice when the car, a National, ran off the high embankment at the southeast corner of the course. He was caught beneath the wreck.

Kincaid had been employed by the National Motor Vehicle Co. for several years and during the past two years had been engaged exclusively in driving racing cars. He had appeared in many of the big track and road events in various parts of the country and was regarded as one of the best drivers in the racing game. He lived in this city and was unmarried. He drove a National car in the speedway races this week, his last public appearance being on July 4, when he started in the 200-mile race for the Cobe trophy. Kincaid led in the race during the first lap, but later was forced to drop back on

TIME TO ACT

Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness—Profit By Sedalia People's Experiences.

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are common early symptoms of kidney disorders. 'Tis an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time but return with greater intensity. If there are symptoms of dizziness—puffy swellings, below the eyes, bloating of limbs and ankles, or any part of the body, don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up the treatment until the kidneys are well, when your old time health and vigor will return. Cures in Sedalia prove the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

P. F. Tomlinson, 1515 E. 5th St., Sedalia, Mo., says: "Five years ago Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Bard's Drug Store, cured me of lumbago and kidney trouble. I still think highly of this remedy and recommend it at every opportunity."

WITH THE FUNNY MAN

Jollying Jenkins.

On his way to the club Jenkins had an inspiration. He would purchase a box of cigars and upon arriving spread them around, thus making himself solid with the boys. He did so. A little later he asked the recipients how they enjoyed the brand.

Said Brown—"I like none better."
Said Jones—"That cigar is the best thing out. I was sorry to have to finish it."

Said Robinson—"I hope I may never smoke a worse one."
Said Smith—"You are lucky, old man, to be able to give away such cigars."

Said Skinner—"I never knew what a cigar could be before smoking that one."

Said Thompson—"Great! After smoking one of that brand I never wish for another."

Said Briggs—"No more rank cigars for me after yours."

Said White—"I feel that I can never again match such a cigar."

Said Green—"I picked up one of my own while smoking your cigar and threw it away in disgust."

And now Jenkins is wondering.—

Longfellow's Birthplace.

In Portland, Me., the house where Longfellow was born is now a tenement in the poorer part of the city. A few years ago a teacher in Portland was giving a lesson on the life of the poet. At the end of the hour she began to question her class.
"Where was Longfellow born?" she asked. A small boy waved his hand vigorously. When the teacher called on him his answer did not seem to astonish the rest of the class, but it was a cold shock to her. "In Patsy Maggie's bedroom," he said.

DIES TO REFORM HUSBAND

Woman Drinks Acid in Hope It Will Stop His Drinking.

Joplin, Mo., July 7.—After deliberately planning death as the only solution of problems which made life not worth living, Mrs. Lillian Hubbard, 224 North Division street, drank carbolic acid at 12:30 o'clock yesterday and died in the presence of her two children, aged 10 and 8. She left a note explaining that she hoped by suicide to persuade her husband to quit drinking for the sake of the children.

The man did not go to work yesterday morning, but sat on the back porch until noon. Mrs. Hubbard devoted the morning to writing three letters, in which she explained that she was not crazy, but had calmly thought the situation over and decided her death was the "one way out."

Her children, observing their mother's abstracted attitude, inquired what she was doing.

"Just writing some letters," she replied, and burst into tears. Two hours later she kissed them and drank the acid, dying before a physician arrived.

NEWS OF THE RAIL

DISPATCHER DENIES THAT HE WAS TO BLAME FOR THE C., H. & D. WRECK.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

Albert J. Smith, train dispatcher of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad, whose orders were relied on by the train crews of that system on Monday, denies he was responsible for the Middletown disaster.

"I am not responsible for the wreck," he said, according to the reports. "I told the freight to stay in the siding at Middletown and I can't understand why it was not there. I don't care to place the blame at this time."

According to statements made by members of the freight crew at Middletown immediately after the wreck, they had been given orders showing that the passenger train was to wait at Post Town, three miles north of Middletown, until 1:08 o'clock, and if the freight had not reached there at that time the passenger was to come through cautiously.

It is reported from Hamilton that further investigation by Coroner Burnett, of Butler county, of the wreck has been deferred until the formal inquest is begun, which probably will be called Friday.

Is Settlement Near at Hand? The two following paragraphs are from the Nevada Mail of Wednesday afternoon:

"It is reported that a conference will be held this week between officials of the Missouri Pacific and the machinists who have been on a strike since May. It is reported that the indications point to an early adjustment of their differences.

"Arthur Cobb, who is working at the Missouri Pacific round house, was knocked down on the west side of the square yesterday afternoon by two men. When the officers appeared the two men had disappeared."

Declined a Good Position.

Ragel Rockett, stenographer for the Missouri Pacific railway division foreman at the old shops, has received a good offer for the position of stenographer to the general manager of the Southern railway at Columbus, Miss., but has declined to accept, owing to an advance being given him here.

Harry Stotts, an M. K. & T. switchman, is laying off on account of a sprained ankle.

C. M. Hunt, trainmaster for the Missouri Pacific, returned this afternoon from a business visit at Kansas City.

Charles McEniry, an M. K. & T. switch light inspector, returned this morning from a business visit at points north of here.

C. E. Johns, a Missouri Pacific conductor out of Jefferson City, has been assigned to trains Nos. 691-692 on the Lexington branch out of Sedalia.

Official car No. 36, of the M. K. & T., used by A. D. Bethard, assistant general manager, was brought to the shops here today for repairs.

E. C. Clifford, traveling engineer for the Missouri Pacific on the L. & S. division, formerly of this city, went to Kansas City this morning, after a business visit here.

R. H. Oglesby, a member of the state board of railroad and warehouse commissioners, was in the city this morning, on his way home to Warrensburg from Jefferson City.

W. H. Boult, former chief of police, now a Missouri Pacific guard, is home from a visit in Kansas, and, with his wife, will leave Sunday for a visit at Excelsior Springs.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

Following are some of the newspaper comments of the candidacy of Hon. F. S. Heffernan for congress in this district.

THE HERALD'S OPINION.

The Herald, a prohibition newspaper, published in Springfield, the home of Mr. Heffernan, says:

"Some may wonder why the prohibitionists did not endorse Mr. Heffernan. He is vice president of the State Amendment association, which has charge of and is leading in the fight to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in the state of Missouri. He is an able advocate of prohibition. He is a prohibitionist, but not a party prohibitionist. He is a democrat in politics. He is a candidate as a democrat before the democratic primary. Had the prohibitionists endorsed his candidacy they would only have embarrassed his chances for nomination on the democratic ticket. What the prohibitionists may do should Mr. Heffernan receive the nomination for congress will be decided when the proper time comes. All prohibitionists who are acquainted with F. S. Heffernan respect him for his ability, honor him for his courage and love him for his manly qualities."

PROGRESSIVE CITIZEN.

The Leader advocates the interest of no democrat seeking party nomination, and always supports the nominee.

It may be said to the democrats in counties in this congressional district where Mr. Heffernan's personal acquaintance is limited, that he has lived in this city since 1867, that he was one of the founders of our gas company, and for years its president. That with his business partner, Mr. James Reilly, they were the founders of the Springfield Electric Lighting company, and he was for years its secretary and treasurer. That in company with Messrs. Ambrose, Bentley and Reilly, they founded the Springfield Ice and Refrigerating company, and he was, likewise, its secretary and treasurer. Mr. Heffernan has been connected with many other successful public enterprises in this city.

These institutions are today standing monuments to his public spirit and enterprise.

St. Louis Republic: The St. Louis friends of Frank S. Heffernan, an attorney of Springfield, Mo., received word yesterday of his announcement as a candidate for the democratic nomination for congress in the seventh district of Missouri.

The candidate is a strong advocate of state-wide prohibition and anticipates addressing the democratic voters of his district on this topic in the near future.

Mr. Heffernan is possessed of the firm belief that two years hence state-wide prohibition will be advocated by both leading parties.

The Advertiser this week prints a most interesting address by Judge F. S. Heffernan, of Springfield, Mo., who is a candidate for congress on the democratic ticket. In this address Judge Heffernan lays down his platform, the laws he will contend for if nominated and elected. He adheres to the cardinal principles of democracy. He is for state and national prohibition, viewing it as non-political, but the greatest moral question ever presented to the American people. Judge Heffernan was born of democratic parents and has never affiliated with any other political party. We ask every voter to read carefully this address which may be found on our second page this week. Whether you believe in temperance, prohibition or what not, you can but admire the honest and straightforwardness of this splendid gentleman. He is not only a democrat, but those who know him best, regardless of

Saloon Thought No. 434

How many divorces have been granted in Sedalia in the last ten years that were caused DIRECTLY by the saloon? Kansas has fewer divorces than any state in the Union—why? More families own their own homes in Kansas than any state in the Union—why? More empty jails are in Kansas than any other state in the Union—why? They have $145 per capita in their banks, and Maine comes next with $90—why these two states? (one dry for fifty years and the other dry for twenty years). Missouri has the largest brewery and the largest penitentiary in the world—why? Sedalia spends at least $20 in her saloons to get one dollar back—why in debt?

This has been going on fifty years, and taxes as high as the constitution will permit—why? There have been over 75 business changes on Ohio street in eight years—why? The saloon doesn't have collectors out at the end of the month like the grocers—why? The brewers and saloon keepers spent $104,000 to carry Sedalia wet two years ago—why?

JURY FIXING CASE

GROGER FACES AN INDICTMENT CHARGING INFLUENCE TOWARD BROWNE.

CIGARS OFFERED, HIS WIFE SAYS

Minority Leader's Retrial Set for July 20 Through Agreement of Counsel—The Contest Will Be Most Bitter.

Chicago, Ill., July 7.—A fresh sensation in connection with the legislative bribery scandal arose yesterday when State's Attorney Wayman announced that an indictment had been voted charging John E. Maloy, a grocer, with attempting to corrupt Oscar T. Morford, a juror, in the recent trial of Lee O'Neill Browne.

Morford, his wife and his father, Thorough Morford, testified before the grand jury. Mrs. Morford testified that shortly after the Browne jury had been sworn she went to Maloy's grocery, which is in the neighborhood in which the Morfords live.

Maloy, she said, gave her two cigars which he asked her to give to her husband, who had been accepted on the jury. According to State's Attorney Wayman, Mrs. Morford testified that Maloy asked her to use her influence to persuade her husband to vote for the acquittal of Browne, holding out as a reward for so voting that Morford "would not have to work for a railroad any more," as "he would get a lump of money."

Morford is a switchman and his father a railroad gateman. He voted consistently for the conviction of the defendant.

Morford is said to have testified that the grocer made a similar proposition to him, urging him to influence the juror to hold out for Browne.

The offer was not communicated to the juror and he heard of it first after the jury had been discharged.

Maloy, when seen by reporters, indignantly denied that he had sought to influence Morford.

"Morford has been on my books for years," said the grocer. "I got him a job when he was down and out, and this is what I get for it. It is all a lie."

By arrangement of counsel the trial of Browne, charged with bribing Representative Charles A. White to vote for William Lorimer for the United States senate, was set for July 20.

Ghost Story Made Good.

Now that ghost stories are again to the fore, one from just a century ago may find a place. In this case the ghost was officially taken into account by a town meeting. Under the date of March 6, 1806, the Annual Register tells how a butcher of Stretford, in Lancashire, had disappeared during a recent flood, and how rumors spread that an apparition had been seen near a certain local pool of water. Some gave it the form of an uncanny dog, others that of an equally mysterious man who had uttered blood-curdling yells; and it was told that, even when nothing was seen, cattle refused to drink at the pond, and horses trembled as they passed it. At last a town meeting was decided to pump the pool dry. It was done, and there, sure enough was the butcher.—London Chronicle.

He Had Kissed Her.

Clyde Fitch, entertaining a supper party in his beautifully decorated New York house, criticised with telling scorn a drama that he had recently seen.

"The leading incident was so impossible," said he, "that I was reminded of one of those nonsense dialogues. You know how they run?"

"A young man, for instance, says to a friend:

"For all her coldness and austerity, I have kissed Ethel Prynm."

"Really?" doubts the other.

"Yes, really."

"But how on earth did you inflame that icy heart?"

"I didn't inflame her icy heart. That would have been impossible. I simply disguised myself as the Blarney stone."—Philadelphia Ledger

Did Not Fail to Do Duty.

E. H. Wood, chief of police, has given orders to each police officer to arrest any and all violators of the law, regardless of who it is arrested or when.

"They stated last night that I had failed to do my duty in not arresting the pickets," Chief Wood said, "but I have never yet refused, no matter what the circumstances were."
